CROWDED CLASSES

A drop in attendance in area schools was the cry at the beginning of the school year. It soon became apparent, however, as the students walked the halls of our school, that the problem at Middleburg was just the opposite. A sudden explosion of growth in the student body resulted in longer lunch lines, crowded halls, and larger classes.

GREATER SPIRIT

More improtant than the negative side of the over-population was the positive aspect of this growth. Organizations utilized the new talents and ideas of additional students thus increasing our potential as we competed in the many extra-curricular activities. Some of these activities included band, chorus, boys and girls basketball, and wrestling. The saying, "The more the merrier," proved true as we sensed a greater school spirit.

The new friendships more than made up for the inconveniences the more crowded conditions caused. The old and new students merged to create more spirit within our school.

The growth was good for us to accept new persons into our group and make them one of us. This experience enriched both the students as individuals and the school as a whole.

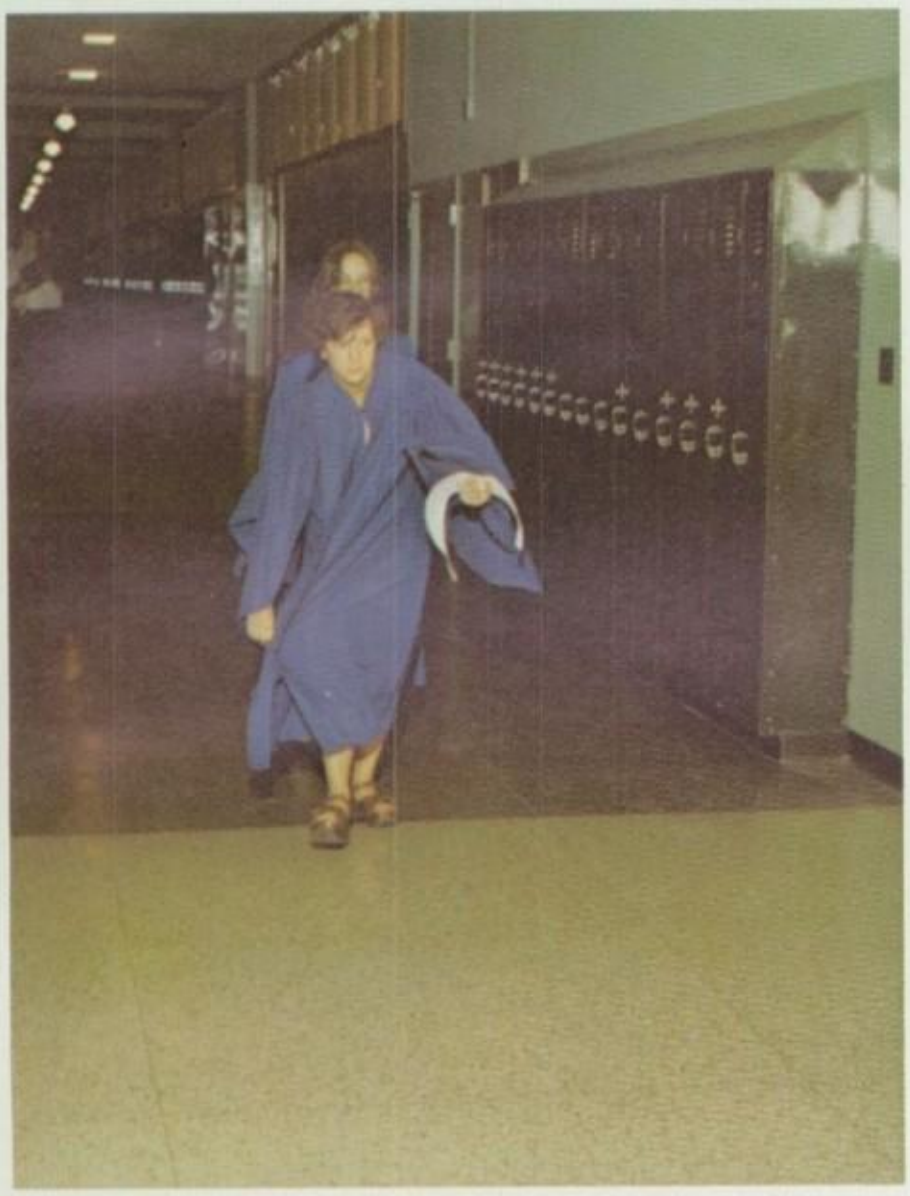
GROWTH COMMUNITY



The growth in our student body signified a growth in the community. We were happy to learn that new families moved into our area and were able to avail themselves of the opportunity of attending Middleburg High School.

As the surrounding area expanded from the inflow of more families, the school played an even bigger role in our community.

SPRING

Spring was the time of new beginnings. As the growth of nature had been dormant during the long, cold winter months, so were the talents and activities of the students of Middleburg High School. In much the same way as nature exploded — causing trees to burst into bud and flowers to spring into bloom, so did it bring life back to the overflowing halls of our school.

Escape to South Seas

Outlines Prom Theme

Friday, April 20, the Junior Class invited the seniors to "Come Sail Away" for an enchanted evening on a South Sea island. The design committee chose the prom's theme by voting after compiling every dream, thought, and idea available. This list of possible choices included several inspiring love songs such as "Photographs and Memories" and "If" and a theme centered around nature and its scenic beauty. The majestic coronation of the new king and queen in front a breathtaking sunset back-drop brought the festivities to a climax. The 1978 royal couple, Ken Foltz and Patti Ivins, passed their reign onto seniors Rick Griffith and Ann Nailor. With music from the local group Foxy couples danced to the tunes of their fantasies with a Beach Boys' medley and favorite songs by the popular group the "Bee Gees."

Juniors Unite Forces to Paint Seaside Glow

"How can we ever be ready by tomorrow night?" This panic-filled question seemed to run through almost all of the minds of the anxious juniors, but at the same time it inspired the members of the class with a spirit of unity. Getting a bit of a late start in decorating plans, the entire Junior Class joined together with terrific enthusiasm to prove that "there is strength in numbers." Work crews and various committees began their duties at noon on Thursday, April 19. They worked in the gym into the late hours of the night and the entire day Friday to create the romantic illusion of spending a beautiful evening on an enchanted South Sea island.

At 8:00 couples began to arrive for their evening in paradise, entering the gymnasium through a thatched-roof, bamboo threshold. Sharing each other's company, couples relaxed amidst the palm trees and sunsets. To correlate with the theme, the table decoration committee made colorful sand art centerpieces. The refreshment committee prepared a menu of sandwiches, cake, potato chips, pretzels, and fruit punch. A few hours later the crowd diminished and the tuxedos and gowns gave way to jeans as many proceeded to the Post Prom held at the Sunbury bowling lanes.

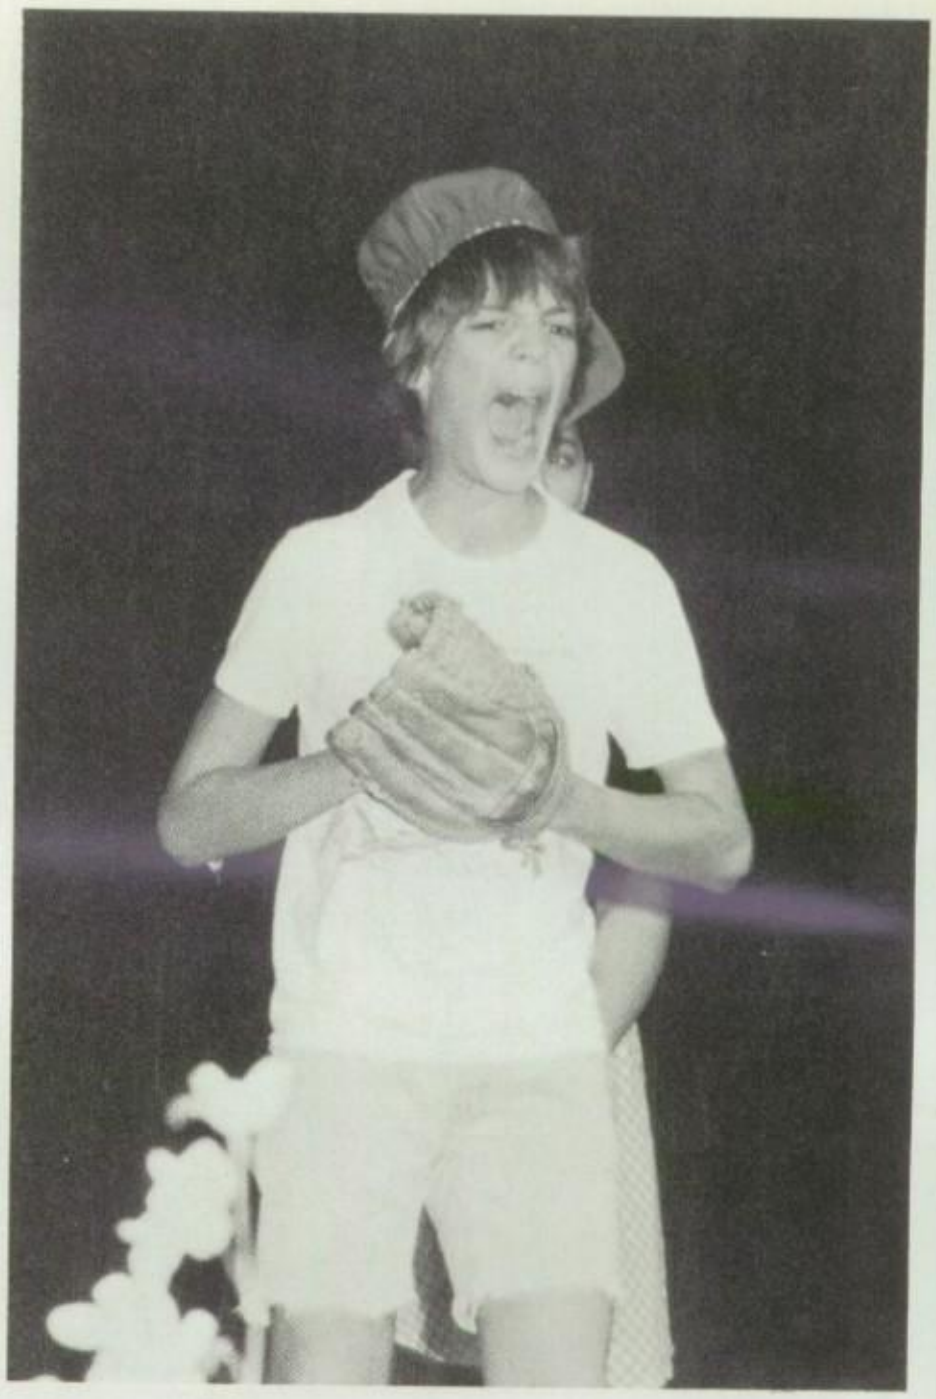
Song, Dance Routine

Adds Spirit to Concert



The auditorium was alive with the sound of music as the Junior and Senior High Choruses in addition to the Ensemble presented a versatile concert after months of hard work and long rehearsals. The setting was the Middleburg High School on Friday, May 11, at 8:00 p.m.

Under the directions of Mrs. Coleen Bidelspach, the musical selections ranged from spirituals to rock and roll. The choreography arranged by Mr. Gary Bloom and the use of the synthesizer added an exciting touch to the program.

Some of the special talents the audience enjoyed were Tina Graybill and Mark Steininger's "You Don't Bring Me Flowers," Tammy Steffen's "Don't Cry Out Loud" and Rose Womer's "Everybody Has A Dream."

A special feature of the evening was a presentation of awards. The winners of the National School Choral Award were Rose Womer and Cindy Snook. Ruth Graybill received the Certificate of Distinquished Service.

Long Practices Lead To Excellent Concert

Majestic blue and gold banners waved high amidst the aisles of the Middleburg High School auditorium as the senior band and entire band front dazzled the audience with a special arrangement of "Copacabana". Under the helm of Maestro Ronald Renshaw, the junior and senior bands presented an exhilarating evening of music on March 30, 1979. Selections from "A Chorus Line", "Alla Barocco", Highlights from "Camelot", and "Carnival of Venice", in which Robin Meredith performed a brilliant trumpet solo, were major features of the senior band performance.

Scott Hackenburg received the award for Outstanding Male Instrumentalist, Lisa Hackenberg for Outstanding Female Instrumentalist, and Jane Heintzelman for Outstanding Band Front Member. Robin Meredith received the prestigious, annual John Philip Sousa award, which goes to the student who has attained high standards as a member of the band throughout high school. As a conclusive part of the awards ceremonies, the officers expressed the gratitude of the entire band to Mr. Renshaw for his endless hours of hard work with a new golf bag and pull cart. The happily surprised director explained that golf was his favorite hobby and that his old equipment was coincidentally ready to be "bagged".

State Law Requires Student Immunization

In accordance with Pennsylvania School Law, students received immunization against three serious diseases in May. The three vaccines administered were for diptheria, polio, and measles. Prior to the immunization date, school officials notified students as to which of the three they needed to receive. In order for students to be eligible for immunization, their parents completed forms detailing past medical history and innoculations. The diptheria and measles species were injected and the polio preparation was in the live, oral form.

The State Department of Health provided the financial support for the program. Mr. Harden, a representative from the Pennsylvania Department of Health, administered the vaccines and was assisted by school nurses and members from the Nurses Club.

Band Captures First Place In Competition

The Middleburg High School Band, under the direction of Ronald Renshaw, received several awards for outstanding performances on its trip to State College on May 25 and 26, 1979. They competed in the Bald Eagle-Nittany Pageant of Bands at Penn State University.

There was a total of thirty bands competing in four different classes, based on school population in grades 10-12. Middleburg vied for top honors with six other schools in class IV competition. The other schools that competed with the Middies were Boyle, Johnsonburg, Millersburg, Blue Ridge, Muncy, and Sugar Valley.

The marching Middies earned awards in all of the events in which they competed. They placed first and second in concert and stage band, respectively. They received third place awards in the color guard, and majorette events, and earned a fourth place award in the parade competition. The blue and gold marchers did not perform in the field band competition.

'Me and My Shadow' Presented At MHS

Spring '79 was an eventful season for the MHS drama department. The spring play "Me and My Shadow" was a success for directors, Mrs. Darlene Volchansky and Mr. Willis Clauser, along with student director, William Krohn.

The "good samaritan" efforts of a young attorney, Roy Harrington, Karl Mauser, turned his home into a state of utter chaos. After saving the life of a Hindu girl, Patricia Shellenberger, Roy found that rather than being declared a hero he was confronted with a jealous wife, an irate mother-in-law, and a would-be murderer.

Despite Roy's attempts at reasoning with Shadow, the Hindu girl, she insisted that he was now her master and she was his slave. The stubborn antics of the Harrington's maid, Lori Reich, and the odd sense of humor of Roy's best friend, Douglas Mengle, only added to Roy's frustration.

Couples' Skill, Poise Add Charm to Show

Blink and you had missed another exciting feat. Tumblers came running from the four corners of a huge mat to cross diagonally in the center as they performed various single stunts including diving forward rolls, round offs, back handsprings, and flips.

This was the dazzling opening of the 1979 Middleburg High School Gymnastics Club Show, which held an audience of parents and friends spellbound as they observed the results of several weeks of strenuous work by both the students and their coaches, Mrs. Mary McClellan and Mr. James Aurand. Members of the club exhibited strength, poise, and flexibility in their performances.

Five couples gained the admiration of everyone present when they highlighted the evening with a beautiful arrangement of doubles stunts. The pairs, working in unison to the music "Nadia's Theme," were Beth Schnure and Kirk Hassinger, Stacey Schnure and Douglas Ottenberg, Denise Walters and Timothy Knepp, Denise Heintzelman and Roger Forry, and Teresa Ulrich and Scott Fisher. The boys agilely supported their elegantly posed partners high in the air for a perfect finale.

Graduates Urged To Strive Toward Goals

With mixed emotions, the class of 1979 graduated on the evening of June 5, 1979.

The seniors, in their robes of blue, proceeded down the aisle while Mrs. Coleen Bidelspach played the processional music for the commencement exercises. The woodwind ensemble, consisting of senior girls, played "Eine Kleine Nachtmusik" menuetto. The seniors in Senior High Chorus, sang "Dream a Dream."

Senior Class President, Larry Weader, presented Principal, James Howell, with the class gift.

Craig Shamory, Salutatorian, delivered a message on, "Dreams, Hopes, and Aspirations." In his presentation, Craig expressed his hopes that his fellow classmates would set goals for themselves and strive to attain those goals.

The Valedictorian, Robin Meredith, challenged her classmates with a message entitled, "Be Not Afraid." She urged the students to consider their personal goals and how they planned to achieve their dreams.

Reverend Paul Crawford, Jr. delivered the Commencement address. Mrs. Jeanne Weber, President of the Midd-West School Board, presented the diplomas to the graduates.

SENIORS

The Class of 1980 anticipates graduation day after having spent the last twelve years preparing to cope with the important decisions of the future. As part of a crowd working toward this goal, the seniors have shared many experiences. Their memories include times of sadness, moments of laughter, and hours of hard work. The years spent in school have prepared them to adjust to a crowded society and to make a lasting contribution to our world.

SPORTS

Part of the crowd at Middleburg High School participated in the athletic program. The close rivalry of the area teams made sports an exciting element of the school. The players expended their energy as they prepared to step onto the playing field to play for the Middies in their chosen sports. Important points taught in training were self-discipline and cooperation. The teams were then ready to meet the challenge of competing for our school.

Bogey Afflicted Foes Fall Prey to Aceman

Standing atop a solid foundation of a seventeen wins — no loss season record, the unconquerable Middleburg High School golf team reigned for the second year in a row as victors over the Tri-Valley League Crown. Facing only one team that came close to keeping their burning pace, the boys kept their composure to move by Juniata with a tight score of 335-336. David Goodling and Greg Klose led the team with the lowest season scoring averages of 79 and 81.

The Tri-Valley League is somewhat isolated from the teams in surrounding areas because its competitive interscholastic matches take place during the spring, whereas the majority of other high schools move onto the links in the fall. This may appear as a disadvantage to the Middle Swingers when the District IV Championship culminates the autumn season. However, on October 4, 1979 our talented quartet, comprised entirely of juniors, marched onto the turf at the Berwick Country Club to walk off eighteen holes later with the top honors.

Varsity Girls Awake Sleeper of a Season

To put a surprise finish to a rather disappointing season, the Varsity Softball Team walked off with a practically errorless game over the visiting Tigers from East Juniata. The girls realized that they were in a "now or never" situation and so the troops, under the command of Miss Gail Valentine, united for a total team effort to slide by the opposition by a score of 9-8. This tallied an overall record of 1-13. Pitcher, Lisa Nornhold, burned a season total of twenty-two strikeouts. The dynamic duo of freshmen twins, Judy and Trudy Swope, pounded home first and third place batting averages of .406 and .361. Senior Angela Shaffer, who filled the second place slot with .366, received the Most Valuable Player Award at the annual Spring Sports Banquet.

In Jayvee action, the Middiettes rapped in the best winning record in history according to Coach Frank Fisher. The most exciting game of the season came when the girls squared off against the West Perry Mustangs. Going into the contest, both teams carried only one loss apiece. When the seventh inning came to a close, the Middies walked off triumphantly with a 5-3 victory.

MHS Baseball Team Fields Single Victory

Swinging into the 79' season with all its might, Coach Stanley Sheaffer's Varsity Baseball Team found the competition in the Tri-Valley League to be tougher than ever as it rounded out the season with an overall record of 1 and 19. However, the determined Middies did make the road to victory a rough one for most of their rivals with precision pitching and commanding field play.

Holding on with unity and never relelving the blue and gold pressure, the boys managed to finish out the year in style. On May 29, 1979 the long awaited climax finally came as the Middleburg diamondmen slid by Halifax 16-11. The winning man on the mound was winning pitcher, Christopher Lupolt.

Kraig Martin recorded the most RBI's with thirteen. Top sluggers for the team were juniors Christopher Lupolt and Dennis Troutman with batting averages of .340 and .278 followed by freshmen Bryan Kratzer with .257. Coach Sheaffer commented that despite all the losses the team gained much experience and the majority of the players would be back the following year.

Dance Routines Help Spark Victory Pace

Rain or shine, winning or losing, who are the Middies' most loyal fans? Ever notice those pretty girls along the sidelines who can yell louder than some of the guys? The 1979 fall cheerleaders made their loyalty to the Mighty Middies known as they jumped, chanted, and danced the fall sports teams down the road to victory. During the summer, some of the girls spent a week at Carol Houk's Cheerleading Camp near Williamsport learning exciting new formations, stunts, and cheers. Sharing these new ideas and practicing many summer evenings, the Varsity and Junior Varsity Squads came onto the fields in September with inexhaustible enthusiasm. Kimberly Eisenhower and Donna Winey captained the Varsity Squad while Dana Heddings and Crystal Hackenberg served as JV captains.

With choreographic help from advisor, Mrs. Nancy Cody, the girls performed a fast-beat pom-pom dance routine to "Still Makin' It" at the Homecoming assembly and the night soccer games at Selinsgrove. On the day of the District IV soccer championship game, they provided the student body with one of the most entertaining pep rallies ever which included a special appearance by the "Not Ready For Prime Time Cheerleaders."

Blue and Gold Kilties Swing Past Mounties

You probably could not have found a more balanced record than the Junior Varsity Field Hockey Teams 4-4-2 league tabulation. The freshmen-sophomore squad fought hard to be a major contender, but at times, beginning errors blocked the road to victory. Brenda Jordan and Carol Maneval were the leading net slingers for the Gail Valentine coached eleven, with three and two goals respectively. Goalie Rhea Sheaffer made some unbelievable maneuvers to round up a total of 45 saves.

October 15 set the date for a game filled with intense rivalry and the most coveted game of the season. Chanting during the entire bus ride, the psyched up Middies traveled to the western end of the county to battle West Snyder's Mounties. After a scoreless first half, Lynn McCloud broke through the red and white fullbacks to put one away for the Middies. The score stood at 1-0 when in the final minutes of the game, West Snyder broke loose on a fast break catching Middleburg's defense off guard. Goalie Rhea Sheaffer recognized the crucial situation and dashed out to the top of the circle to send the ball and the Mounties in the other direction. This daring save helped the Middies bring the blue and gold home victoriously.

Strong Come Backs Provide Gals Offense

Its season record did not tell the whole story behind the high-spirited 1979 Varsity Field Hockey Team. Using total team play and exceptional determination, the blue and gold stickers kept their opponents under constant pressure but were unable to find a clear path to the goal cage. Under the direction of rookie coach, Mrs. Brenda Apple, the team became known for its come-from-behind rallies.

One of the most exciting games came early in the season against Lewistown. When the opposition scored first, the Middies fiercely retaliated as Margaret Guerrini flicked one past the Panther goalkeeper. After the halftime break, both teams eagerly wanted to break the deadlock. With the action moving at top speed and the control of the ball changing every few seconds, a Lewistown player managed to find a space in the solid Middleburg defensive line and made the score 1-2. Lewistown later received a penalty stroke but goalie, Judy Swope denied its entrance into the net with an outstanding save. Anxiousness prevailed up until the last minutes when the Middies received a penalty corner. During a scoring attempt, the officials called a retake of the corner. Only a few seconds remaining, the girls could not net the ball and had to accept a final score of 1-2. At the end of its 1-9 season the team received a letter of commendation from the Tri-Valley League officials organization for good sportsmanship.

Knepp Leads Booters To New Goal Record

Middleburg Junior Varsity Soccer Team posted a fine record of 11-2 in the 1979 season. Under the direction of new Coach Daniel Knepp, the booters scored 58 goals on the year. This was a new record.

The only two losses of the season came from the Little Lions of State College. Despite showing their dominance over arch-rival West Snyder, the young booters just could not find the momentum to drive them past the State College defense.

Leading scorers for the baby Middies were Bryan Kratzer with 19 goals, and Gary Keister with 13 goals. The boys scored an average of 4.46 goals per game, while giving up only 1.09 per game. They also recorded six shutouts in the season. Fourteen players scored goals for the Middies.

Middie Booters Hold Blue, Gold Tournament

The Middleburg Middies, under the direction of Coach James Aurand, started the season by hosting fine teams from Cumberland Valley, Fairfield, and Fleetwood, in the Second Annual Blue and Gold Soccer Classic. The Middies finished the event with a second-place tropy.

The Mighty Middies posted a league record of 11-2, and an overall record of 17-5. Despite finishing second in the Tri-Valley League, the booters earned a berth in the playoffs. In District IV playoff games, the Middies defeated Northern Potter 2-1, and Sullivan County 4-0. In the District IV championship game, the boys fought a tough battle but still came out on the losing end by a 3-2 score against arch-rival, West Snyder, Fleetwood later downed Middleburg by a 5-0 score in a PIAA inter-district playoff game, thus eliminating any chances at the coveted state championship.

Middleburg set two new scoring records this season. This has been the first time that all eleven starters have scored in one season. Eighteen players scored at least one goal this season. This is also a record.

High scorers for this season were Seniors Chris Lupolt with 17, Brad Dressler with 16, and Scott Predix with 13.

Middleburg also placed five players on the Tri-Valley League All-Star Team. Chris Lupolt and David Goodling placed as backs on the first team. Scott Predix earned a first team position as a striker. Greg Klose made it as one of the first team goalies. Brad Dressler also earned a position as striker on the second team.

Ruling Cagers Press Opponents to Boards

First-year coach, Robert Margoles molded his team's abundance of height and talent into the winning combination that took third place honors in the Tri-Valley League. The Mustangs from West Perry placed first, while arch-rival West Snyder rebounded into the second place slot.

Numerous variations on aggressive man-to-man defense and explosive quickness by senior guards Scott Predix and Christopher Lupolt kept the fast break rhythm flowing for the Middleburg cagers. On the rebounding side of things, the towering trio of senior David St. Clair and juniors Troy Hockenbrock and Gregory Klose controlled the inside blue and gold action on the boards.

High scorers for the year were Gregory Klose with 302, David St. Clair with 336. Troy Hockenbrock, David St. Clair and Gregory Klose did the job on the bankboards tallying 246, 184 and 128, caroms respectively.

Middies Adapt Well To New Head Coach

Under the direction of first year coach, Douglas Brown, the Middleburg Middies Junior Varsity Basketball Team notched an overall record of 13-7. The baby Middies adapted well to their new mentor by rebounding from a losing season, the previous year. The Middies showed their superiority by defeating arch rival West Snyder, by a score of 55-22. At halftime, the baby Middies had a lead of 35-10. The boys never lost the momentum on the way to the dazzling win. Dean Shirk led the scoring attack by scoring sixteen points. Del Fuller and Donald Gill chipped in with eight points a piece.

Sharp-shooting and effective passing helped the cagers gain the needed experience to advance to the varsity level. The boys learned new plays and techniques to give them a broader knowledge of the game.

Shots at the Buzzer Make JV's Victors

Thrilling last minute shots and breathtaking overtime periods were the decisive factors in the exciting Junior Varsity Girls' Basketball season. Keeping Coach James St. Clair on the edge of his seat, the girls dribbled their way to a league record of 11-5. The freshman-sophomore squad not only practiced basic offense and defense patterns but also utilized several new challenging plays.

Despite a one point loss to arch rival West Snyder, the junior hoopsters defeated some of the top-ranked teams in the league. This year's trip to Kishacoquillas proved to be worth it as the Middies held on for a come-from-behind victory. Third quarter action saw our visiting quintet down by nine points. Determination in the last period and a final minute field goal by Stacey Schnure carried the contest into overtime with the score of 35-35. Unyielding defense and shots by Robin Bruner and Trudy Swope brought a 39-35 victory home for the Middies.

Limited Girls' Roster Struggles With Spirit

Regular season action proved both frustrating and disappointing for the girls as they lost several contests by only a few points. Already at a disadvantage with only an eight-player roster, the team lost three key players to injuries for different periods of time throughout the season. The lone victory for the squad came early in the season against Chief Logan.

The Middleburg squad thrilled the home crowd on Parents' Night as they paired off against The Mounties from West Snyder. Jumping off to an early lead the Middiettes carried a 15-12 edge into the locker room at halftime. Sharp shooting from outside in the third quarter solidified the home court lead to 25-18. Hampered by a severe offensive slump, our quintet watched as the red and white foes turned on the pressure in the fourth period. During the last crucial minutes the team held on at 27-26, but as the final buzzer went off, a West Snyder field goal dropped in, to sound defeat for the blue and gold.

History Jinx Broken With Favorite Rival

Throughout the history of the highly competitive school district, Middleburg High School's wrestlers had yet to tie or defeat their sister school rivals from West Snyder. Would the overwhelming crowd in the Beaver Springs gymnasium finally see the record set straight on January 19?

West Snyder anxiously won the first two weight classes by decisions. However, grappling for the blue and gold Todd Keister, Neil Klinger and Clay Payne retaliated with victories. This left the score 9-20 after the 145 pound face-off. Holding strong and determined, 167 pounder Darryl Shirk gained a superior decision to boost the score to 14-23. Edging closer to the final match, Jerry Bruner muscled a 185 decision which moved the Middies within six crucial points. All eyes strained on the center of the mat as heavyweights Rick Buss and Tim Reich drew their stances. Entering the second period, Buss trailing 0-3, the score remained hopelessly unbudgable as the final seconds on the clock ticked away. Suddenly Buss headlocked his foe for a pin and a record breaking 23-23 tie!

In post-season individual play-offs Darryl Shirk took first place in Sectionals. He advanced to District competition, where he was defeated 2-0 by Kelly Holmes, state runner-up.

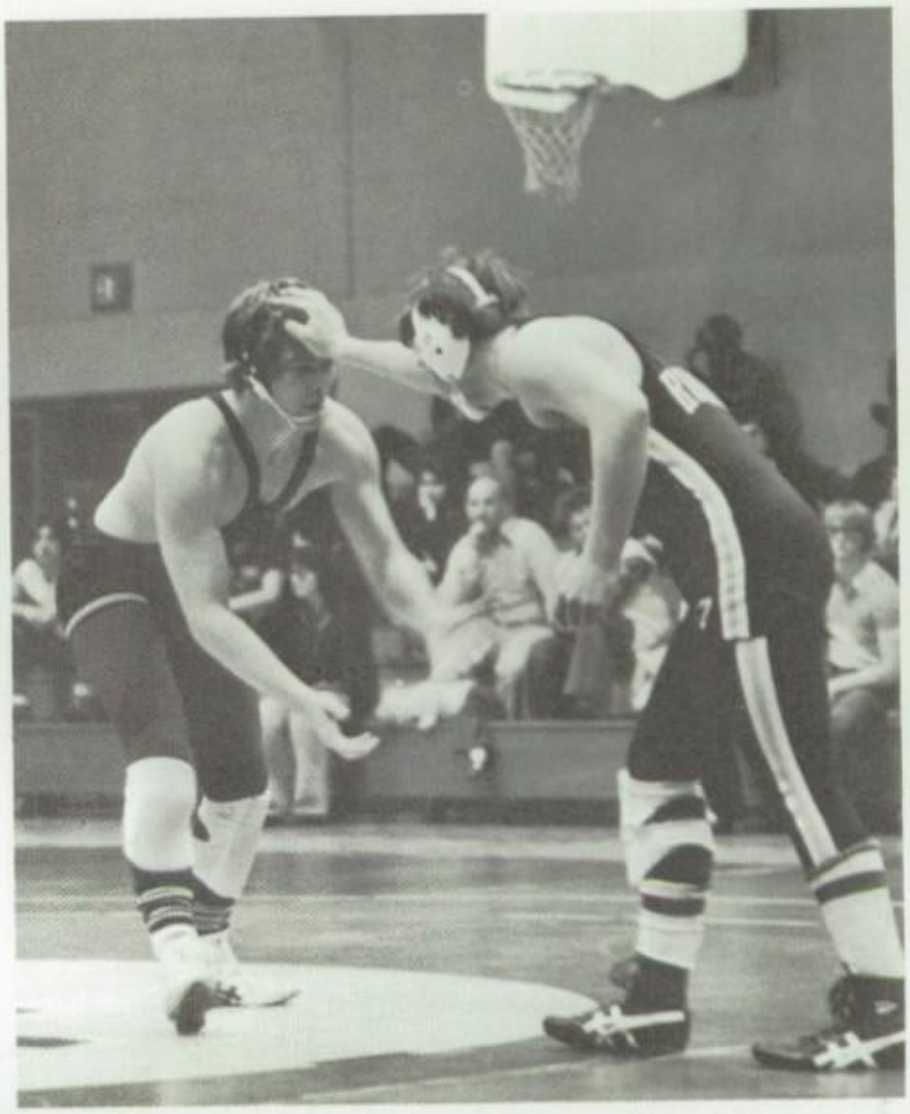
Decisive Maneuvers Reverse Rival Hopes



Surpassing the 1978-79 season totals, the Junior Varsity Wrestling Squad rolled over a team record of 11-8. First year coach Wayne Loht worked with the eager group of grapplers on strength, stamina, and individual moves and strategies. The JV wrestlers competed in matches preliminary to all varsity contests.

On February 2 the Middie Matmen pressed Upper Dauphin for one of the tightest bouts of the season. Although six individuals posted victories for Middleburg, Upper Dauphin escaped as the winners with the score 30-27. Tom Jordan, Wade Snook, and Gregory Shirk notched decisions, while Kevin Graybill and Timothy Auman pinned their opponents. Heavyweight contender Keith Buss won by a forfeit.

Winter Cheerleaders Generate Gusto, Pep

When traveling down the road to victory who should be at the head of the pack leading the Mighty Middies but twelve lively girls clad in swinging blue and gold pleats. Instructed by Mrs. Nancy Cody, the Varsity Cheerleading Squad for the 1979-80 winter season was one of the largest to back the sports teams in quite a while. The squad elected seniors Donna Winey and Kimberly Eisenhower as captain and co-captain. Vigorously chanting from the bleachers and energetically rousing the loyal audiences with floor routines, the girls kept the spirits high at wrestling matches and boys' and girls' basketball games with cheers such as "Beware", "Rowdy", and "Victory Beat".

The cheerleaders honored all varsity players and their parents by sponsoring a Parents' Night for each athletic team. The varstiy cheerleaders shared participation in one of these special evenings with the girls' basketball team. The festivities for each of these occasions included providing corsages for the mothers and introducing the varsity players and their parents to the fans prior to the main event of the evening. After the contest, the cheerleaders served refreshments to players, parents, and coaches in the cafeteria.

Junior Varsity Girls Fired Up and Ready

"Fired Up and Ready," the name of an exciting new cheer, told the complete story behind the 1979-80 Junior Varsity Winter Cheerleading Squad. Always on the move to boost another victory, the JV girls alternated cheering at games with the Varsity Squad. To be eligible to try out for the squad, girls had to be in Eighth, Ninth, or Tenth Grade. Crystal Hackenberg served as captain of the junior rooters while Dana Heddings was the co-captain. Keeping with the latest trends, the girls used several upbeat, dance-related cheers such as "Fresh and Hot" and "You've Gotta Get On Down."

ACTIVITIES

Extra-curricular activities provided one more opportunity to become part of the crowd. Chorus, Band, FFA, FHA, and FBLA were activities which taught students to function within an organization. The members participating in activities provided services that aided the community — Health Careers Club, Key Club, and National Honor Society. Involvement in the organizations taught cooperation and leadership as the members met the challenge of serving the school and community.

Colorful Slides Give Assembly Warm Touch

Starting things off on the right foot, the Varsity cheerleaders opened the Homecoming assembly with a snappy pom-pom routine to the hit song "Still Makin' It." Tina Graybill followed, capturing the ears of everyone with her heart-warming version of "Corner of the Sky."

To add a special touch, the lights dimmed and scenic slides of the three senior candidates flashed on the screen as Mrs. Coleen Bidelspach provided a musical background on the piano of "Somewhere In the Night." Next Debra Womer added a cheerful glow to the stage park scene by singing "Songbird."

At last the mounting anticipation came to an end when Christopher Lupolt announced that Jane Nornhold had been elected the 1979 Homecoming queen. Steve Snook concluded the program with the song "Everybody Has a Dream."

Honor Society Holds An Induction Banquet

With the new school year beginning, National Honor Society inducted thirteen new members. As part of the induction, the thirteen new inductees wore dunce hats through the halls of MHS. A banquet at Billman's was also held in honor of the new members.

As part of the Honor Society's activities for the year, they took a two-day trip to Williamsburg, VA. at the end of February. In order to raise funds for this bi-annual trip, the members sold M&M's and also held a bake sale.

Drama Club Presents O'Henry Productions

On November 15 and 16, the drama club at Middleburg High School presented An Evening With O. Henry. The presentation included the two one-act plays from the turn of the century, by the short story author O. Henry. The titles of the stories were "The Last Leaf" and "Mammon and the Archer."

In the play, "The Last Leaf," pneumonia-stricken Johnsy thought she would die when the last dead leaf had fallen from the ivy vine outside her window. Mr. Nehrman went to the trouble of painting a leaf on the wall outside the window, so that it looked like the last leaf would never fall. While doing this, Mr. Behram got sick and died. This gave Johnsy the much-needed desire to get well and live.

In the play, "Mammon and the Archer," multi-millionaire, Anthony Rockwall thought that anything could be bought with money. He found that this could not be done when his son Richard, wanted to propose to the beautiful Diane Lantry, before she sailed for Europe. Mr. Rockwall paid to have a traffic jam so that Richard could be with Diane in a taxicab. Diane accepted Richard's proposal and they got married and sailed for Europe together. Mr. Rockwall then thought that anything could be bought for a price.

Stage Band Includes Jazz, Popular Tunes

Long, hard-working hours described the rehersals of the MHS Stage BAnd. This elite group of musicians met individually with Mr. Renshaw to work out seperate parts and them put it all together as a group at early Wednesday morning practices.

In addition to performing in school assemblies, the group gave a crowd-pleasing performance at their spring concert, which was the band's major fund-raising event. The program included several "oldies but goodies" along with popular rock and jazz tunes. Two highlighted songs were "Manhattan Skyline" and "How Deep Is Your Love" from the phenomenal movie "Saturday Night Fever."

Jr. High Musicians

Move To Lively Beat

Junior High band members, under the direction of Mr. Ronald Renshaw, prepared a variety of music for the annual band concert held on February 29. A few of the songs played by the Junior High Band were the popular theme from "Star Wars" and the theme from the "Muppet Show."

Junior High Band members met during activities A and C rehearsing songs such as "Station Break" and "Today Explosion." Mr. Renshaw also met with the students giving individual lessons. The band consists of 71 seventh and eighth grade students. This is the largest band under the direction of Mr. Renshaw, in three years.

Band Varies Rhythm

Marches to Classical

Many hours of work and practice paid off for the band and bandfront squad of Middleburg High School. To the music of the M.H.S. band, the bandfront squad molded turns, twirls, and salutes into suitable marching routines.

On May 25 and 26, 1979, the squads traveled to State College to complete in the Bald Eagel-Nittany Pageant of Bands. The bandfront squad came away with third place trophies in the color guard, and majorette divisions of the competition. The band earned a fourth place trophy in the parade competition.

The band spent much time working on its music and perfecting the stops, starts, and turns of its marching maneuvers. Early morning practices became a ritual to the band members.

Musicians Participate In Honorary Groups

Talented students from Middleburg High school participated in several honorary musical activities during the school year. Within the vocal category six students from MHS attended the District Chorus festival which Mt. Carmel High School hosted. The festival began January 23 and lasted until January 26.

Within the instrumental category Middleburg High School hosted Susquehanna Valley Band which presented a concert on March 8th. The Susquehanna Valley Band members were students from high schools within the Susquehanna Valley. The Senior Band consisted of a total of 106 members and the Junior High Band consisted of a total of ninety-five members.

Lisa Peters from Middleburg High School gained the honor of representing Middleburg in the District Band Festival, hosted by Bloomsburg High School.

Junior High Chorus Performs at Concerts

Junior high chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Colleen Bidelspach, had a very large membership. Eighty-one members composed the seventh and eighth grade choral groups.

Two talented students provided the accompaniment for the two vocal classes. Donna Apple provided part of the necessary piano-playing, while Tim Zechman accounted for the remainder of the music.

In the annual Christmas Choral Concert at Middleburg High School, the junior high chorus presented a fine performance. The entire group sang such songs as, "Were You There on That Christmas Night", "Jesus Christ is Born Today", and "Holly Jolly Christmas." The eighth grade chorus gave it's version of "Holy Manger", while the seventh grade chorus sang "The Night Before Christmas."

Senior High Vocalists Show Diverse Styles

The Middleburg High School Senior High Chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Colleen Bidelspach, had three different choral groups. The ensemble, girls chorus, and mixed chorus made up the larger chorus.

In the Spring Pops Concert, the ensemble performed various songs from the popular "Muppet Movie." Some of the selections included "Movin' Right Along," and "Rainbow Connection." The all-right group also performed at area churches throughout the year.

Fifty-four voices made up the girls' chorus. The girls' chorus sang songs such as "Little Star," "Sing Alleluia," and "Holy Babe," in the Christmas Choral Concert at MHS.

Mixed chorus was the largest of the three groups, composed of 66 members. The large group sang songs such as "Joy to the World," and "Come Christmas Morning," in the Christmas Concert.

Freshman Choristers

Vocalize With Spirit

Preparing for the choral department's two annual concerts found the Ninth Grade Chorus busy and bustling during all seasons of the school year. At the Christmas concert on December 16, the 27-member vocal group charmed the audience with the selections "Light the Candles," "Christmas in a Samll Town," and "Happy Holiday." With the arrival of spring at MHS came rehearsals filled with broadway show tunes and contemporary songs that were everyone's favorites. Telling the tale on an orphan's life was the song "It's the Hark Knock Life" from the musical Annie. This was one of the ninth grade selections in the spring concert. Joan Graybill and Susan Zeckman were the pianists for the freshman choristers.

Monitor Junior Staff Has Busy Semesters

1979-80 Monitor Junior staff had a busy fall semester preparing the publication of each bi-weekly school newspaper. The staff, managed by Timothy Erdley and Terri Reich, also released a weekly Reminder. The Reminder contained the lunch menu and the sports and activities schedules for each week.

The hard work for the juniors did not end as the first half of the school year came to a close. As senior yearbook staff members picked up where they had left off, the newspaper staff moved on to learn the trade of publishing the school yearbook, Monitor. Advisor, Mrs. Lynda Hoffman, taught the new apprentices the skills of drawing layouts, cropping pictures, and writing copy.

Glowing Efforts Raise Funds With Candles

Encouraging athletic participation, enhancing school spirit, and promoting good sportsmanship were all basic objectives of the Varsity Club. To become a member of the club, a student had to earn a Varsity Letter, which they acquired after accumulating six points. The club's major project annually is to raise enough money to pay for one half the cost of every Varsity jacket awarded during the year. The school budget covers the second half of the cost. A candle sale served as this year's fund raiser. Although the campaign lasted only three days, sophomore Judy Swope was the leading salesman with an order totaling 205 dollars.

Council Rouses Spirit with Blue, Gold Day

A very important part of the school revolved around the Student Council members. All the homerooms elected a representative and alternate to carry out the wishes of their own homeroom. William Krohn and Debra Womer served as president and vice-president.

Members divided into the committees of Project, Social, Suggestion, Service, and Publicity to better handle individually a certain activity. The homecoming committee worked long and hard hours preparing for the two assemblies in school, the annual Homecoming night, and this year a Homecoming dance.

Student Council fund raising projects included the annual Middies jacket sale and maintaining the new pencil machine. Members decorated the halls and rooms for the Christmas and Easter holidays and also removed the decorations after the holidays.

A recent addition to the group of events they held was the first "Annual Blue and Gold Day." Members of Student Council selected a student from each grade and voting occurred at a pep rally. Herman Wentzel, won a Middie T-Shirt, eighth grade. Lisa Peters, won a Middie license plate, twelfth grade. And Mr. Lewis Ballantine won a Middie cap.

Key Club's Activities Involve Cider Sale

What does the Key Club do? Formed with the help of the Selinsgrove Kiwanis Club, this group grew into one of the most popular clubs on the activity calendar. All the members attended the meetings held every other Thursday while the Executive committees met on the other Thursday.

Members collected apples, took them to a cider press, and then sold the apple cider to the general public. During Key Club Week members placed pictures, banners, and posters in the cafeteria and next to room 206. A very worthwhile project of this group included giving Christmas baskets to the needy people of the area.

Monitor '80 Welcomes New, Eventful Decade

A race against time described the hectic schedule of the 1980 Yearbook staff. With four individual deadlines to meet, the staff of the Monitor discovered just what publishing a yearbook is all about. These 20 seniors pulled together and compounded all they had learned in their previous year of training for designing and constructing one of their most sentimental keepsakes.

However, meeting deadlines was far from the staff's only concern. Precision taking and cropping of photographs, endlessly writing copy, frustratingly fitting headlines, and finally making certain that everything fell into place in a workable layout were some of their major duties. Other vital tasks were accurate, continual typing and maintenance of the financial account.

This year's volume of the Monitor focused on the theme "Caught In a Crowd" because of the overcrowded conditions present everywhere in school. With the long-awaited arrival of the last deadline in February, the seniors took no time for celebration or relaxation. They promptly switched publications with the Monitor Jr. staff and set about releasing the bi-weekly school newspaper and weekly Reminder.

Agriculture Students Sponsor Citrus Sale

Five members of the Future Farmers of America received the highly coveted State Keystone Farmer Degree. Those who received the degree were Terry Maneval, Steven Renninger, Timothy Kline, Terry Kline, and Nick Heintzelman. Candidates for this award demonstrated leadership ability, earned $500.00 from their project, or worked 600 hours with their projects.

FFA fund raising projects included a citrus fruit sale during the fall, and the annual donkey basketball game in February. Members attended the State Farm Show, state convention, and Beaver Fair.

Future Homemakers of America participated in a variety of projects this year. They placed second with an exhibition booth on the theme "Safe Toys for Preschoolers" at the Beaver Fair. They also aided the community by babysitting at the Parent Teachers Organization meetings and by making favors for the preschool nursery program, in which they participated. The members collected for the March of Dimes "Mothers March."

The chapter attended several rallies and conventions. Among them were the area FHA meeting at Halifax, the winter FHA meeting at the Harrisburg Forum and a tour of the Farm Show. They hosted the Spring Area Rally in March and attended the Seven Springs State FHA Convention. Other activities included performing "To Promote Good Nutrition," a play for elementary school children and selling BLAIR products as a fund raising project.

FBLA Members Hold Fund Raising Events

A stated purpose of the Future Business Leaders of America was to develop leadership abilities and competencies for business and office careers. The club provided a method for the enrichment of the business education program and individual student growth through competitive events and leadership training.

The FBLA participated in the fall regional workshop held at Shamokin Area High School, the regional conference hosted by Line Mountain High School and the state conference at Lancaster Host Farms. The club also had a bake sale and sold candy as fund raising projects. As part of its social activities, the club had skating, initiation, and Christmas parties.

Health Careers Club Helds School Nurse

Health Careers Club gained knowledge of nursing skills as they participated in activities involving the health of the community. The club members assisted in the local blood mobile which is a vital function in maintaining the proper supply of blood needed in emergencies.

The addressing of Christmas cards for the residents of the Selinsgrove Center was a project which gave them experience in dealing with the mentally retarded. A field trip to Danville State Hospital made them aware of situations which confront those involved in health careers.

Intramural Programs Build Winning Traits

During the two activity periods of each week, students had a chance to participate in the intramural program of their favorite sport. These clubs emphasized the rules of the game and proper techniques. Students chose between tennis, softball, cheerleading, and basketball.

The boys' and girls' basketball teams allowed junior high students to gain some experience before becoming involved in the Varsity and Junior Varisty interscholastic sports program.

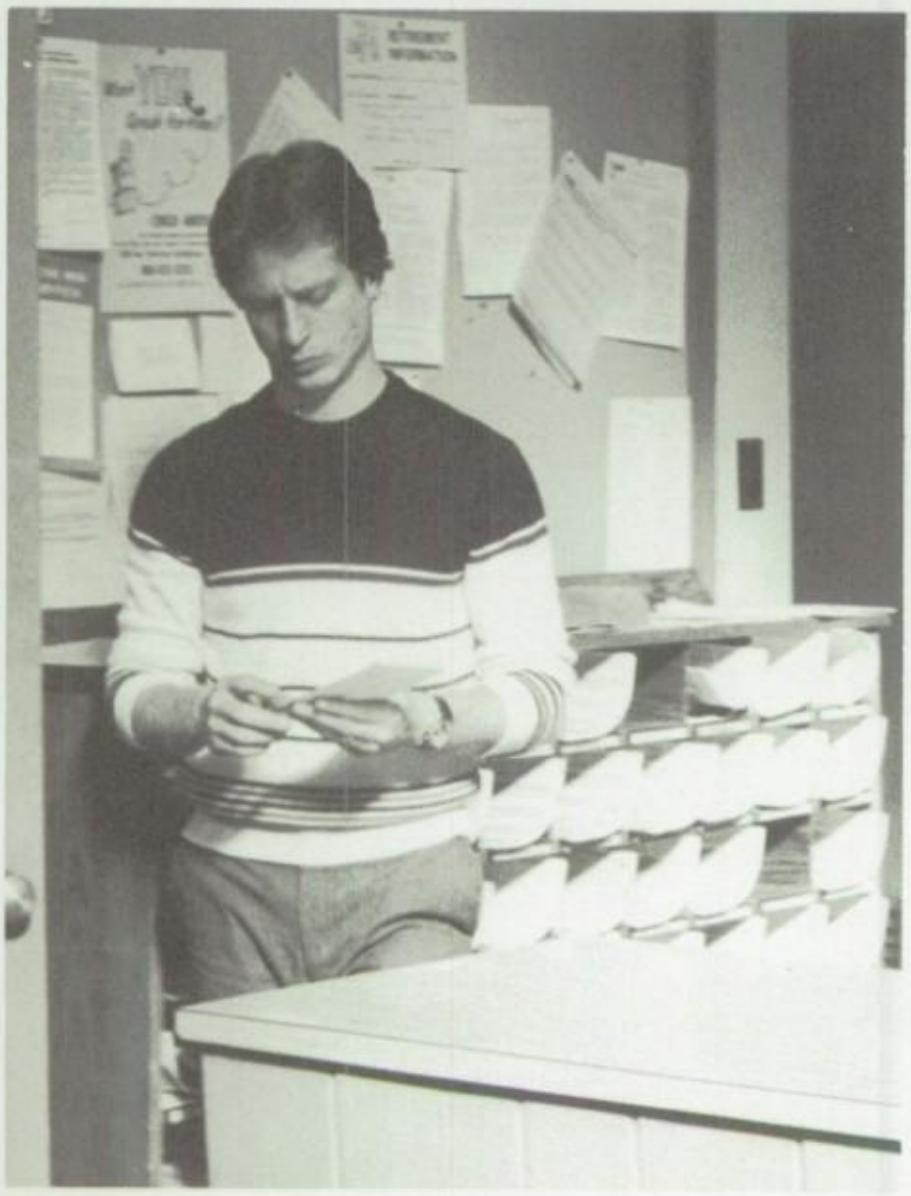
CURRICULUM



The students of Middleburg High School selected a variety of courses taught by highly qualified teachers. The students took required subjects in junior high and freshmen chose their own course of study. In addition to the basic subjects taught, many advanced courses in physics, chemistry, geometry, and business were available. The electives — languages, art, home economics, and music — provided a well rounded curriculum which retained its quality in spite of the crowded classrooms.

Administration Studies Plans of Construction

Finalizing plans for the high school building programs at Middleburg and West Snyder occupied much of the time of Dr. Barry Smith, Superintendent of the Midd-West School District. Working with architects and financial advisors in order to submit plans to the Department of Education in Harrisburg finally resulted in state approval of building plan for the Middleburg renovations in December.

In addition to the building program Dr. Smith, along with the Board of Education approved a policy statement for the Midd-West District. Discussion of the policy was the topic of a one day teacher In-service day held at West Snyder High School in September.

Mr. Robert Yerger, assistant to the Superintendent, concentrated on coordinating curriculum in the elementary program. He also attended workshops and conferences dealing with updating the elementary curriculum.

Office Duties Include Scheduling, Evaluation

Composing the yearly schedules for both students and faculty is never an easy task, and the composition of a schedule in a crowded school is even more difficult. Principal James Howell along with guidance counselors Jane Stoddard and Richard Felker, worked on the schedules through the months of April, May, and June in order to find a workable system in dealing with the crowded conditions at MHS. However, scheduling was not the only problem confronting the administration. During October Mr. Howell and assistant principal Robert Apple steered the faculty and student body through the Middle State Evaluation.

Assistant principal Robert Apple had responsibilities in addition to his administrative office. These duties included handling the attendance and discipling situations and serving as the school's athletic director. Under this title, Mr. Apple arranged a balanced schedule of practice sessions so that junior high boys' and girls' basketball teams and the varsity and JV boys' and girls' squads could use the gymnasium at the same time allowing for sufficient scheduling of interscholastic athletic events. Problems occasionally arose that forced the postponement of events and Mr. Apple saw that they were rescheduled at a suitable time.

All Students Receive Training In Grammar

The English division of the curriculum presented eleventh and twelfth grade students with a selection of courses. Some of these were American Literature, Short Story, Basic Composition, Advanced Grammar and Rhetoric, and Mass Media. Last year students chose their courses for this year, which ran on a semester basis, by selecting five and listing them in their preference. The guidance office then tried to arrange students' schedules so they could be placed in one of their first choices.

Junior high pupils followed the Comprehensive English Program, where teachers emphasized proper grammar, sentence structure, vocabulary, and spelling. Ninth and tenth grade classes concentrated on diagramming sentences and analyzing a few of Shakespeare's reknown works.

Field Trips, Debates Bring History Alive

History, a subject required of all students in every grade, focused on the problems of today's fast-paced world and those of ancient civilizations. Classes relived such eras as early European explorations, the Renaissance, World War I and II, and America's Industrial Age. Field trips to local landmarks and industries highlighted the studies of junior and senior classes. Seventh grade students investigated the advances of primordial man while centuries later in time, the seniors questioned the judgments and moral values of present-day American people. Discussion topics in the Problems of Democracy classes included Three Mile Island incident, the deposed Shah of Iran, and his stay in the United States. Students also discussed the taking of hostages of the American Embassy workers in Iran, and capital punishment. Mr. Guy Graybill's class structured a well executed debate on the controversial topic of nuclear energy.

Senior-High Students Select Math Courses

Delving into the mathematics of everyday life students studied the basic fundamentals of addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division. In addition, Junior High Students studied all the operations dealing with fractions, whole numbers, and the ever prevalent metric system. Students discussed the uses of the metric system throughout the world today.

Learning the basic fundamentals of Algebra took up the time of the ninth grade class. Tenth graders delved into more difficult functions in the Algebra II Class.

Senior high students selected their own math courses, which ran for a nine-week period. Areas of study included Income, Banking, and Buying.

Mr. Lee Shamory's Shop Math Class, received background in mathematics used in the shop. This course delved into all types of mathematics dealing with rulers and measurement. Students received help in determining how many board feet there is in a tree. This part of the course especially interested the Agricultural students.

Environmental Studies Cite Future Concerns

Rock collections, chemical experiments, cat anatomy, and environmental studies outlined major problems in the science department. These studies prepared students for careers in the future. Seventh grade explored general science while eighth graders studied physical science. Mr. Rodney Snyder instructed these students in their first laboratory situations.

Freshmen maintained a weather station for which they kept daily records. Tenth grade students dissected starfish, crayfish, and frogs.

Juniors led by Mr. Carl Winey met the challenge of one of the curriculum's demanding courses. They examined atomic structures and the electron configuration system. Seniors compounded their previous knowledge by choosing Advanced Chemistry, Advanced Biology, or both courses. The chemistry class evaluated the complexity of hydrocarbons in the organic field while cat anatomy, complete with dissection and human physiology occupied those enrolled in biology.

Students Receive Aid In Career Choosing

The curriculum at MHS included courses in business and domestic training. Students enrolled in the business course learned dictation, transcribing, correct typing techniques and efficient office procedures with instruction on the use of modern office equipment. They learned the art of maintaining accurate records in bookkeeping class.

Home economics classes included instructions on cooking, sewing, and homemaking for both male and female students.

Industrial Arts taught students the use of tools found in the shop. They learned by experience the creativity possible in working with wood along with welding projects.

The agricultural curriculum included the study of animals and crops. They also studied modern maintenance procedures. As members of the FFA, students competed in contests for driving tractors and judging of animals and land. These contests required hard preparation by the participants.

Phys. Ed. Department Helps Build Strength

Learning how to keep your body in shape sparked interest in the physical education classes. Areas of study included volleyball, square dancing, track and field, and soccer. In addition to serving as Physical Education teachers, Mr. James Aurand, Mrs. Nancy McClellan, Miss Gail Valentine, Mr. Wesley Whipple taught Health and First Aid to eighth and eleventh graders.

In a world exposed to the fastest modes of communication students at MHS could choose from two modern foreign languages — Spanish and German — juniors and seniors could elect the classical language Latin. Along with the usual study of grammar, literature and culture Mrs. Lynda Hoffman and Miss Nancy McKeever incorporated career education into the foreign language curriculum. Teachers stressed the advisability of having a foreign language as a secondary or supplementary skill in career planning. Students also discussed the uses of their new learned skill in the world.

Specialized Teachers Offer New Directions

Aside from good old reading, writing, and arithmetic were several departments of special interest. The library played an important part in school life providing needed resources. Mrs. Nancy Riegart worked with seventh and eighth grade students on comprehension skills when reading.

Instrumental and vocal music made several electives available such as marching band, stage band, girls ensemble, and the choruses. Art classes were mandatory in the junior high program but optional at the senior high level.

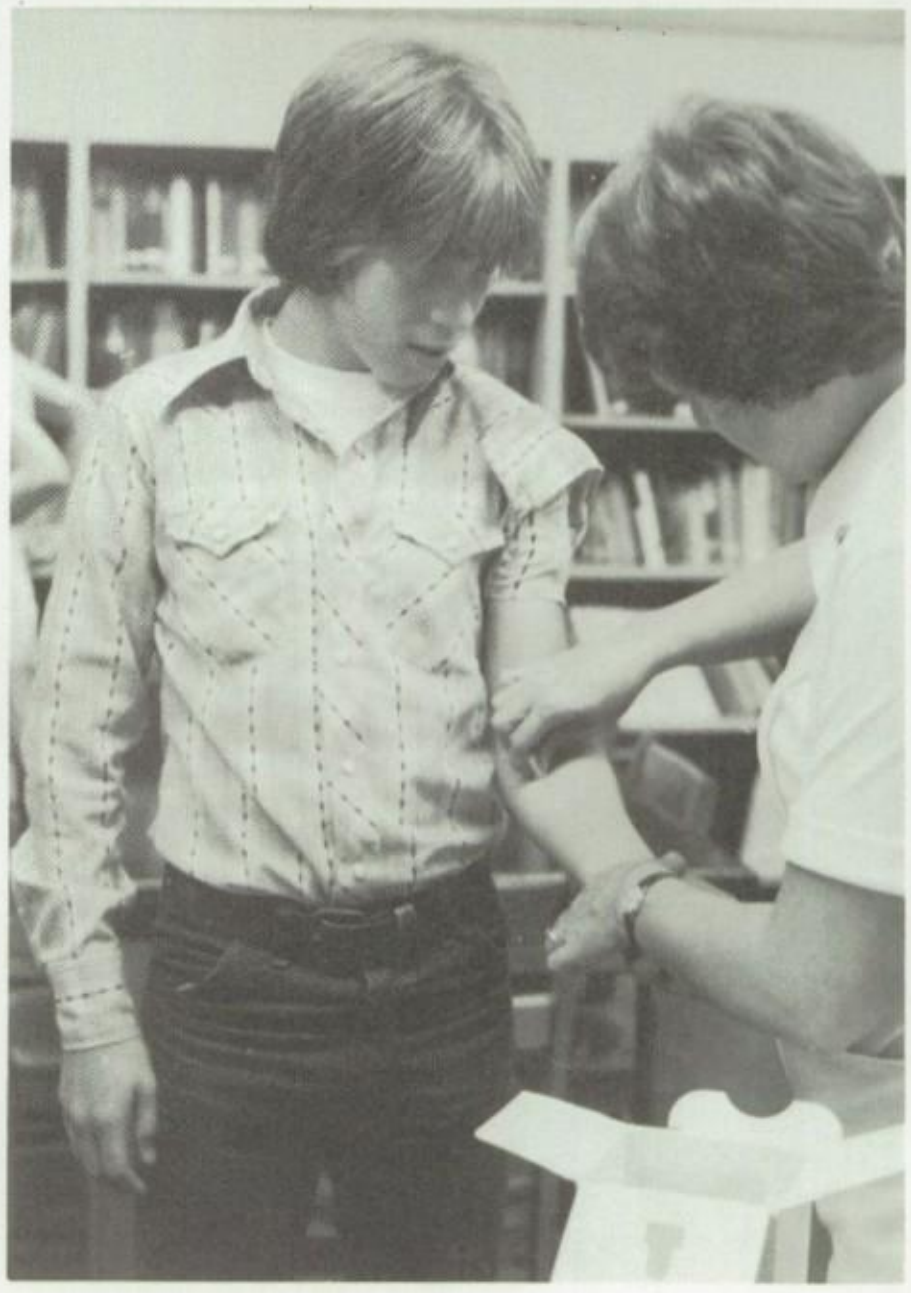
Most students anxiously awaited the Driver Ed. course, taken in the sophomore year, which prepared them for actual on-the-road experience. Mrs. Roberta Smith and aide Mr. Charles Volchansky patiently strived for new skills with the Occupational Training students. Group discussions, special projects and speakers outlined the Enrichment Program directed by Mr. Gary Bloom.

Counselors Maintain Career Room Studies

Co-ed guidance classes for seventh graders during the first semester were a first at MHS during the fall term. Guidance Counselors Jane Stoddard and Richard Felker stressed orientation procedures and standardized testing during the guidance classes.

Although seventh grade was the only class to have a structured class all students made use of the information available through the guidance office. The career room located in the library contained many pamphlets, books, cassettes, and filmstrips dealing with career education.

Along with counseling juniors and seniors on career opportunities Miss Stoddard and Mr. Felker scheduled conferences for students with college representatives. The representatives also talked to special classes in the area in which their school specialized.



Kitchen, Maintenance Staff Aim to Please

Service with a smile is sometimes taken for granted, but when you receive it everyday and in a school cafeteria, Now that's something special! The cafeteria staff, under the direction of Mrs. Phyllis Houtz, aimed to please as they added some new and lively dishes to the usual school lunch collection. Students quickly gave their approval to such new entrees as tacos, lasagna, and hot ham and cheese sandwiches. These new meals were not only popular, but also very nutritious.

One of the most important teams in the school was not especially athletic but they deserved our cheers as much as anyone. This was the team of custodians led by Mr. Russell Hornberger. Their game plan included shining floors, sparkling windows, and athletic fields mowed to precision. These men also kept the heating system working properly and always lent a helping hand when students needed special mechanical or carpentry assistance.

UNDERCLASSMEN

As part of the crowd of Middleburg High School, the students spent their years as underclassmen preparing to take their places in the crowd of society as responsible citizens. During this period, they made important choices which affected their future after graduation. It was a time of self-analysis and decisions about careers, education and life style.

PATRONS

In this age of big shopping centers, the businesses of our community took on an important role in serving the people of the Middleburg area. The local banks, restaurants, and stores helped us keep the identity of our town.

As students, we looked to them as examples of integrity and success. Through study, hard work, and determination, students worked to reach their goals in a crowded business world.

ODE TO A YEARBOOK STAFF

Once again it's sixth period
In room one twenty-five.
There's frantic, there's frenzy —
Like bees in a hive.

Another deadline to meet
Here we go once again.
There's confusion and questions
Who, what, where, and when?

Come on now you kids
Let's get it together!
Says the boss, Mrs. H.
In another good old lecture.

Remember Kim's pictures
Oh where did they go?
And the names of Jane's children
No one seemed to know.

Let's hear it for Ellen
With sports up to bat
How 'bout crazy Terrie
She was always a laugh!

What would we do
Without Donna to type?
And Teresa and Kay
To make sure it was right.

Cheryl's spring section
Was first to hit the press.
Next came Deb screaming
"These seniors are a mess!"

Chris kept blowing bubbles
You could count on that
While Deb, Jeff, and Margie
Wrote the copy down pat.

Dale put the teachers
All in their places.
Taking pictures was fun —
Everybody made faces.

Lori would always
Lend you a hand.
Sometimes what we needed
was a twelve-member band.

Remember the day
Sharon started to shout.
While Lisa and Beth said, "I'll lay it out."

With Deb keeping records
The money was straight.
Not to mention the deadline
Just a little bit late.

Moose collected scores
From all of the games.
And Janet gave everyone
Their appropriate names.

We were taught a lesson
With old Lincoln Logs.
But time and again
There were plenty of jogs.

The yellow pencils,
We thought they were hawked.
Did that gray, metal cabinet
Ever get locked?

There were good times to remember
And bad ones to forget.
But some of those times
Were some of the best.

Let's do it again!
Are you kidding me?
The yearbook was fun
But now it's all memory.

M.G.

The crowded halls of M.H.S. vibrated with the growing process of several hundred students. The challenges the students met and conquered and the experiences they shared with family and friends will be invaluable as they strive to become productive members of a crowded society.
